- ❑ In February 2003 MTS introduced a unified set of tariff plans across the Russian network; however, per minute rates continue to vary from region to region

MTS Pre-paid in Russia

MTS' Pre-Paid Product was launched in mid-November 2002

ARPU & MOU Trends

MTS experienced MOU growth but a continued decline in ARPU

- ARPU for FY2002 was $22.9, down from $36.0 in 2001. The decline is largely attributed to the rapid expansion of our subscriber base and the related dilution of our subscriber mix by mass-market users
- Management believes that the trend of growing MOU is largely attributable to increased traffic between our own customers

Churn Development

A decrease customer loyalty on the market was evidenced during 2002

- ❑ MTS churn for 2002 was at 33.9% compared to 26.8% in 2001
- ❑ Management believes that the increase in the Company's churn rate in 2002 is in line with the general market trend. Nevertheless, the Company continues to implement programs aimed at customer loyalty.

SAC Breakdown

Handset subsidies remain as a very small component of the subscriber acquisition cost

- SAC per gross subs addition continued to decline in 2002 reflecting the lower cost of attracting mass-market subscribers and increase economies of scale
- An increase in SAC per gross subscriber addition in Q4 2002 is largely attributed to the promotion of MTS new brand Jeans.

We refer you to the documents MTS files from time to time with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, specifically, the Company’s most recent Form 20-F. These documents contain and identify important factors, including those contained in the section captioned "Risk Factors," that could cause the actual results to differ materially from those contained in our projections or forward-looking statements, including, among others, potential fluctuations in quarterly results, our competitive environment, dependence on new service development and tariff structures; rapid technological and market change, acquisition strategy, risks associated with telecommunications infrastructure, risks associated with operating in Russia, volatility of stock price, financial risk management, and future growth subject to risks.

Attachment A

EBITDA should not be considered in isolation as an alternative to net income, operating income, net cash provided by operating activity or any other measure of performance under U.S. GAAP. We believe that EBITDA is viewed as a relevant supplemental measure of performance in the wireless telecommunications industry and we define EBITDA as operating income excluding depreciation and amortization. EBITDA margin is defined as EBITDA as a percentage of our net revenues. We believe EBITDA and EBITDA margin to be relevant and useful information as these are important measurements used by our management to measure the operating profits or losses of our business. EBITDA is also one of many factors used by the credit rating agencies to determine our credit ratings. EBITDA and EBITDA margin should be considered in addition to, but not as a substitute for, other measures of financial performance reported in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. EBITDA and EBITDA margin, as we have defined them, may not be comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies.

The following table provides a reconciliation of EBITDA to operating income:

US$ mln (unaudited)	Fourth Quarter 2002	Fourth Quarter 2001	FY 2002	FY 2001
EBITDA	$182.7	$125.5	$674.1	$457.4
Less: depreciation and amortisation	($58.9)	($39.8)	($209.7)	($133.3)
Operating income	$123.7	$85.7	$464.4	$324.1

Attachment B

EBITDA margin is defined as EBITDA as a percentage of net revenues.
