The European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD), Computershare Group and ROSBANK are the company's shareholders. All shareholders are represented on the NRC's Board of Directors; NRC is audited by PricewaterhouseCoopers.

NRC made significant investments to purchase unique technological systems. In 2000, the company introduced a new system of register maintenance, which was developed on the basis of the previous system (Sunstar) operation and up-to-date technological solutions in the area of software development and application. A technical center for supporting the operation of this information system was created in the NRC's Moscow office.

Being the developer of this register maintenance system, NRC is able to:

- gradually improve the system's performance, and
- promptly adjust the system to any changes in legislation.

NRC always focuses on ensuring the security of its technologies.

Since its establishment, NRC has been a member of the Professional Association of Registrars, Transfer Agents and Depositaries (PARTAD). NRC representatives are active members of groups and committees within PARTAD including Committee on Legal and Organizational Support, Committee on Standardization and Certification and others.

ZAO National Registry Company is one of the leaders on the registrars' market. Based on the amount of the company's own capital and the aggregate amount of equity capital and insurance coverage, it is rated number one in the PARTAD's list.

NRC was the first Russian registrar whose professional activity was insured according to high international standards. Now the company is insured against the principal risks related to the registrar activity, for USD 5 million, with the largest Russian insurance company Rosno; and these risks are re-insured with a pool of Russia's major insurance companies.

NRC clients are located all over Russia, from Kaliningrad to Kamchatka.
